

Marine Tourism

Tutorial Quiz

1. Students answer all questions T or F (Do NOT write explanations)
2. Teacher reads out answers and students mark own quiz
3. Class discussion of each question. Students write explanations where required.

	Write True or False for each Statement	My Answer	Correct Answer
1	Tourism refers to when people leave their permanent environments to go to temporary destinations to participate in leisure activities.
Explanation
2	The weather plays only a small part in people's decisions about where to spend a holiday.
Explanation
3	Some marine tourist operations are built around the presence of a particular species.
Explanation
4	Natural beauty, family activities, ability to visit with limited available time and cost are usually all considered when deciding on a holiday destination.
Explanation
5	People never visit a destination for one reason only without considering all the reasons stated in the questions above.
Explanation
6	Study of history and culture are not important when tourist venues are being developed.
Explanation
7	Tourist resorts are usually the least expensive way to holiday because they are built right on the site of the attraction.
Explanation
8	A marine tourist resort usually provides attractive accommodation and surroundings as well as all meals and tours.
Explanation
9	Ecotourism is a term used to mean holidays where people go to participate in activities to improve the environment, e.g. removing rubbish from the waterways.
Explanation
10	Surfing, diving, fishing, whale watching and hunting/shooting from four-wheel drive vehicles are popular reasons for visiting marine tourist destinations.
Explanation

11	Marine tourist venues often run educational programs in which visitors learn about marine ecosystems while enjoying the natural beauty.
Explanation
12	SCUBA divers dive for many reasons, including viewing marine animals in their natural environment, underwater photography and spearfishing.
Explanation
13	In order to preserve natural ecosystems such as the Great Barrier Reef, authorities may introduce zoning systems in which particular areas are set aside for certain activities.
Explanation
14	An example of zoning would be to confine fishing, diving and jet skiing to the same area so that the rest of the marine environment is protected from harm.
Explanation
15	Theme Parks such as Sea World provide a way for people to appreciate and learn about marine animals without actually seeing them in their natural environment.
Explanation
16	The money made from marine tourism plays no part in preserving natural ecosystems or historical relics.
Explanation
17	The economies of many countries benefit from taxes paid by marine tourists.
Explanation
18	Many marine tourist resorts employ marine biologists to assist in educating tourists about marine creatures and marine ecosystems.
Explanation
19	Marine tourism is important for providing holiday destinations as well as providing employment for lots of people.
Explanation
20	Generally, marine tourist venues are harmful to the environment and should not be built.
Explanation			